Dear Families,

Last week was all about welcome, getting to know you, and routines. This week we got into our academic routines and worked really hard. I am so proud of all our kids who rose to the occasion. It can be a tough transition but all of our curriculums are so great that, while it's hard work it's also fun.

Reading Corner

Reading Time:

The kids are really enjoying Beezus and Ramona. Everyday, after lunch recess the first thing they ask is if I am going to read our book.

Superkids:

We are getting to know Cass! Ask your child what are some of Cass's favorite things to do. We have been talking about beginning sounds in words especially the /k/ sound. They are also identifying: top, middle, and bottom. We played a fun game with strawberry, vanilla, and chocolate ice cream scoops and pretended to fill customers order of which flavor they wanted at the top, middle, and bottom. This is a way to introduce the Superkids Ice Cream Paper and learning how to write letters within a line parameter.

Daily Reading:

How is reading time going at home? Every child should have brought home at least one book for the week. Read it with them, help them begin to identify words. Ask them how many words they can find that start with the /k/ sounds like Cass.

Spelling Words:

one      two three    four five

Religion

One in Christ:

This week will begin our religion curriculum. Our theme is "God Created People."

Chapel:

We missed out on a couple details at Open House. We love having parents come to our chapel. If you come your child can sit with you. They need to come back to their class after offering to do their memory but can return to you right after.

Chapel Offering:

Students can bring an offering at chapel if they want. This is not a requirement. After the message, while singing our chapel song, the leader of the week will bring our class offering to the front to be collected. Each quarter offering goes to a different charity.

Math

We are working on 1,2,3,4, and 5. Math skills include matching, writing numbers, learning number words, counting, and finding sets.
